The master and part of the crew of the Norwegian steamer Finn have landed at a Channel port and report that their vessel was sunk by a German diver.

A second sinking was reported when eight members of the crew of the Greek steamer Marie Roussos were landed. They reported that their steamer capsized and the remainder of the crew drowned.

ALLIES MAKE PROGRESS

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 21.—The Allies made further progress today on the Macedonian front, pursuing the retreating Bulgars and Germans closely. They have captured seven villages in Serbia, north of Monastir, and are taking many prisoners. The enemy has received reinforcements and is offering a stiff resistance now.

ENGINE TROUBLE ON WILHELMINA DELAYS DOCKING

Trouble in the engine room almost resulted in the Matsun steamship Wilhelmina sticking her nose on the mud-bank in Rotten Row this afternoon as she was entering the harbor. But for the presence of mind of Capt. Peter Johnston the big liner might have grounded in the mud.

When moving up the channel about noon, passing the foot of Fort street, Johnston signaled the engine room for more power. The main engines did not respond to the telegraph and he could not get speed enough to swing her over in line with Pier 15, her berth.

Acting without a moment's hesitation, as soon as he realized the engines were not responding to the telegraph, Capt. Johnston dropped anchor and whistled for the Matsun tug Intrepid. The tug was on the scene in a few minutes and helped to nose the liner into her berth.

Because of the commander's quick action, the liner was brought to a stop in plenty of water. On taking the lead six fathoms were found all around her. Had she not been stopped when she was, however, the liner would have been dangerously close to the mud.

STEAMER SIBIRIA IS STILL AGROUND

(Associated Press by Federal Wireles)

SAILORS' STRIKE DOES NOT BOTHER INTER-ISLAND CO.

With work going along about as usual and steamers leaving practically on time, the "strike" of a few Japanese sailors of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, Ltd., seemed at 1 o'clock this afternoon to be rather a fizzle. When the Mauna Kea arrived this morning and docked at Pier 14 none of her Japanese seamen quit. They all remained at work and did not seem at all interested in hearing of the walkout of Japanese sailors of the company yesterday afternoon.

At noon today Norman E. Gedge, acting general manager of the Inter-Island, said that no statement of the men's grievances has been presented to the company as yet and that he has not even been informed by the "strikers" whether they have really quit work or not.

RAILROAD BILLS WILL BE ALONG PREVIOUS LINES

(Associated Press by Federal Wireles)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 21.—It was learned today that the president's recommendations for railroad legislation, to be embodied in his address at the opening of the short term of Congress, will be practically the same as those embodied in his special address last August, when he was seeking to avert the threatened railroad strike. He has discussed the details of the legislation with his cabinet and today had several conferences on the subject.

A. A. U. TO DEFER TO 'PRO' ADVICE

NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Hereafter the Amateur Athletic Union will pay deference to the advice of professionals in various branches of sports. Because the knowledge professionals possess is needed to "promote the best interests of the A. A. U." the heads of the organization, in conference here passed a rule allowing professionals to act in the councils of the union.

The A. A. U. heads rejected proposed legislation denying to women swimmers the right of registration in its authorized lists.

MILITIAMEN GET TASTE OF REAL ARMY CAMP LIFE

Novelty Adds Zest to Efforts to Secure Full Benefit of Training Offered

(Staff Correspondence by W. H. Johnson, Private Machine Gun Company, National Guard of Hawaii.)

NATIONAL GUARD CAMP, Red Hill, Nov. 21.—Hard work and plenty of it was the order Monday, the first day of maneuvers for the first regiment, N. G. H., encamped at Red Hill but the men refreshed by a good night's sleep went to it with a will and the day's work was highly satisfactory, according to the officers.

The regiment was divided into battalions under the commands of Majors Rose, Johnson and Neely and the entire day was spent in working out detailed problems in preparation for next Friday and Saturday when the whole regiment will be used as a unit to study different problems of attack and defense and fire control. The machine gun company, attached to the regiment, spent the day learning to take down and mount machine guns and to pack mules.

Day Starts Early
The day started at 5:45 a. m. when the shrill notes of the bugle dragged many from sound sleep following the strenuous work Sunday, although it is understood that more were awake waiting for it because they were not accustomed to sleeping out of doors, but it has been impossible to make any one admit it. Following that fifteen minutes were spent in setting up exercises. Breakfast over the men cleaned up the camp and at 8 o'clock the real work of the day commenced.

Orders Given Silently
At first each company worked separately in extended order drill and as all orders were given by signals it was very interesting. A long line of men would start up a hill. The officer in the rear would wave his arms and the men stopped, another wave and they went on or wheeled to the right or left, all without a word being spoken. As soon as the individual companies had thoroughly mastered this drill they continued the same by battalions, ending with close order drill.

Lunch was at noon and in the afternoon the same work was continued, the day ending with a formal inspection parade of the second battalion commanded by Maj. Rose. During the parade the band played, ending with the Star Spangled Banner and all the

LAST CHANCE FOR AMICABLE PACT IS GIVEN

Carranza's Failure to Protect Border Adequately Is Pointed Out

LANE GIVES ASSURANCE OF SQUARE DEAL BY U. S.

American Soldiers Will Withdraw, But Only When Menace of Bandits Ceases

(Associated Press by Federal Wireles)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 21.—After months of negotiations, involving many delays and refusals on the part of the Mexicans to consider American proposals, the tension between the United States and the Carranza government, shown in the councils of the joint commission, has reached a breaking point.

The American members of the commission gave to the Mexican conference today what is understood to be the last opportunity for an amicable settlement of the problems arising from Carranza's failure adequately to protect the border.

During the joint session of the commission, Secretary of the Interior Lane, head of the American conference, informed the Carranza representatives that the American punitive expedition under Gen. Pershing will be withdrawn within a reasonable time, but only under conditions which would not impair the dignity of the United States or leave the border unprotected.

He made it clear that the United States will not tolerate restrictions in the pursuit of bandit-raiders by Americans.

How the Mexican members of the commission will receive the ultimatum will not be known until today's session ends. No sign has come from them.

TELLS COURT 70 WERE CURED OF SMOKING OPIUM

Witness Says Li's "Elixir" Recommended By Now Defunct Society

Seventy persons were cured of the opium habit by medicine prescribed by Dr. K. F. Li.

This striking bit of testimony was the feature of today's session of the trial of the local Chinese physician who is charged by federal officials with having violated the Harrison narcotic act.

The testimony anent the alleged cures was given by Yuen Sai Yin, who told of the formation here some seven or eight years ago of an organization by Christian Chinese to wipe out the smoking of opium and to help those already addicted get rid of the habit. This organization, the witness said, sought to keep the young people from the habit and induce the older ones to take treatment.

At first, the witness said, the organization recommended the taking of a medicine or "cure" that was obtained direct from China, and which was shipped to Hawaii and tried out. Some of this medicine, he added, was sent to Maui.

But this "cure" failed to cure, re-

LATEST 'CRISIS' IN WASHINGTON

(Associated Press by Federal Wireles)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 21.—Official circles here are frankly alarmed over the increasing danger of trouble with Germany over the submarine controversy which has never been finally settled. The latest development in the situation came last night with the formal announcement that Germany has semi-officially admitted that the steamer Arabia was sunk in the Mediterranean sea by a German submarine without warning.

This information has stirred official Washington to its depths, for it bids fair to throw open once more the whole of the diver dispute and bring the two nations to the verge of open rupture once more. It is known that President Wilson intends taking up the problem raised by the renewal of the submarine attacks by the German divers, but so far, though there are five cases pending, he has not taken any active step in the matter.

It is believed here that there is a possibility that Germany will make the Arabia a test case.
